

The safety and support of a victim is our priority. Information and referrals available without reporting.

For more information or to report possible sex trafficking please contact:

FBI Special Agent Jolene Goeden

907-276-4441 or 800-767-8066
jagoeden@fbi.gov

FBI Victim Specialist Erin Terry

907-265-8203
enterry@fbi.gov

Detective Lenny Torres

Anchorage Police Department &
FBI Task Force Officer
907-276-4441
ltorres@muni.org

Emergencies must be reported to 911.

“The FBI is committed to ensuring that victims receive the rights they are entitled to and the assistance they need to cope with crime... Our resources include an Office for Victim Assistance at FBI Headquarters and victim specialists nationwide.”

For more information about the FBI Victim Service Division.

www.fbi.gov/resources/victim-services

Victim specialists have extensive knowledge and experience in crisis intervention, social services, and victim assistance. The victim specialist is charged with ensuring that victims who choose to do so receive the opportunity to be notified of important case events and receive Information on:

- Victim’s state and federal rights
- Trauma recovery education
- Victim compensation programs
- Local advocacy and social service support
- Physical and mental health intervention
- Homicide bereavement support group
- Specialized services for child victims
- Specialized programs for Alaska Natives and Native Americans

FBI Anchorage

101 E. 6th Avenue
Anchorage, AK 99501

Phone: 800-767-8066 or 907-276-4441
anchoragefbi@ak.net

Portions of the information contained in this brochure were obtained from the U.S. State Department publications on Human Trafficking. Law enforcement also obtained information through case experience and interactions with victims of sex trafficking.

Sex Trafficking:

a modern definition of slavery

Definitions and Indicators of Victimization

Our goal is to educate vulnerable youth and adults on the warning signs of a possible sex trafficking situation and to rescue those who are being exploited.

Sex Trafficking defined:

The recruitment, harboring, moving or obtaining of a person for the purpose of a commercial sex act. Trafficking can be both a state and/or federal investigation.

A Commercial Sex Act or Prostitution:

The giving or receiving of sex or a sex act in exchange for compensation which may include money, drugs, or anything of value.

Who is targeted for victimization:

Sex trafficking is a form of modern day slavery. In Alaska, victims are of every race, ethnicity, and socio-economic class. Victims come from small villages, towns, and cities.

The life of girls and young women being victimized through sex trafficking is a violent one. Traffickers often use coercion and physical force to maintain control over their victims.

Our focus and goal:

Victims are often distrustful of law enforcement. Traffickers tell victims they will be arrested if a report to police is made. However, federal, state, and municipal law enforcement in partnership with victim and social service providers offer options of assistance and safety.

Our goal is to prosecute the individuals responsible for sexually exploiting others; and rescuing vulnerable individuals from being exploited through sex trafficking.

Human Trafficking targets the most vulnerable in our state

Traffickers or exploiters are very good at identifying youth who are not from Anchorage and who are separated from their support systems. Often traffickers approach these youth with promises of a better life.

The traffickers flash money, offer shopping and saloon trips, and shower gifts to groom potential victims. Many victims report being offered freedom and materials they may not have previously believed obtainable. It takes a trafficker no length of time to isolate and terrorize a victim forcing him or her into sexual exploitation.

Sex Trafficking Victim Dynamics (Adults and Minors)

- Exchanging sex or sexual acts for drugs, food, housing, etc. (“survival sex”)
- Not attending school or often absent
- Under 18 and dating much older, abusive, or controlling men
- Possesses false ID’s and lies about age
- Has large amounts of cash, jewelry, or new clothes
- Has no cash because the trafficker may hold all money brought in by victim
- Has recurrent STD’s and/or need for pregnancy tests
- Shows signs of physical assault including: broken bones, black eyes, bruising, etc.
- Shows signs of branding or tattooing of trafficker’s name
- Disappears for blocks at a time; chronic runaway
- Has limited, restricted or controlled communication with family and friends
- Uses or abuses substances
- Exhibits extreme weight loss
- Changes in mental health (e.g. suicidal thoughts, depression)

Risk and Vulnerability Factors of Victimization:

- Children involved in the foster care system and child protective services
- Children involved in the juvenile justice system
- Individuals with a past history of physical, sexual, or emotional abuse or neglect
- Substance abuse history
- All children are vulnerable—simply being a child makes one vulnerable

“He made me feel special. He found me when I was broken. He built me up. Broke me back down. And built me back up again to where I thought he was my everything.”
- Alaska Sex Trafficking Survivor

Needs of Victim:

- To be believed and understood
- Medical treatment
- Safety planning
- Linkage or referral to social services
- Substance abuse treatment
- Education needs (basic education, GED)
- Housing (Emergency, Short and Long term)
- Therapeutic services
- Job training